Ideas Contest Winners Suggest Ways to Improve Access to Education for Marginalized Groups

As part of the Narrow the Gap campaign for Education 2014, the Ideas Contest sought to engage Ho Chi Minh residents in the campaign by asking them to share stories and ideas that could help local, not-for-profit organizations (NPOs) think about ways to improve access to education for marginalized groups in and near Ho Chi Minh City.

From 14 April to 30 April, LIN received 93 submissions, including videos and written submissions, which were shared on Facebook and Youtube. Ideas are still welcome and will continue to be shared on Facebook as they are received.

On Friday, 16 May, LIN Center for Community Development and the ILA Community Network announced the winners of the Ideas Contest at ILA Vietnam. During the event, the winners of the contest shared their "story-behind-the-story". Read more

Call for Proposals: Improve Access to Education

The LIN Center for Community Development is calling for proposals from local, not-for-profit organizations (NPOs) who are working to improve access to education on behalf of vulnerable groups located in Ho Chi Minh City or nearby Provinces. This is LIN's second grant round of 2014 and the fourth time grants are to be focused on a specific theme. Read more
